Seth Bulchandaria Islae about her immediate plans for the network and india. how she gets on top of inter-national markets and their coltural ruances, and what CEO againaris in ad agencies should do to become chiefs. Edited excerpts below.

umed your post. What are the first few line items in store?

Our business is all about clients. I want to set the stage for the entire organisation and make us the most client-centric agency. Notmost client-centric agency. Not-hinis plapones without clients in our word Our team was already in place because Andry Main (former wordwide EEO of Ogihvy) and I had already set thinsy over the last 15 months; a lot of it was about acceler alrea the agen-da. The next floors was on culture and ensuring that I was embed-ding who we were Lasthy, we had to establish our 2023 priorities. If I had to use one word to describe this? It's acceleration. It was also easier to begin work immediately this? It's acceleration. It was also easier to begin work immediately because I hadn't joined from outside of the network.

Shifting the focus to India -

Shifting the focus to India—what are the immediate chal-lenges and agenda—both in the short—and long-term?

My lirst agend as always to listen and understand before jumping to conclusions. One of the things that's a reality for any business is that "nothing's perfect and something needs to be done," Having said that, Ogley Mumbal's reputation on the global stage is dominating. Their client relationships are incredible and it's been a phenomenal year of growth. They're rurning their business reality well. We're also looking at the pace of change and looking at the pace of change and evolution of capabilities – agile and platform-led content, for instance,

As a global CEO, what's your process to learn about differ markets and their cultural nuances? Conversely, does

My father and mother were one of family till twas 10.1 am one of 38 first cousins. This has been the best learning ground for me. Honestly, what is leadership in our business? It's understanding people. All of us indians grew up in very complex family ecosystems. And business, too. is full of complex human ecosystems, Indians have an inherent advantage here. Also, everything is very straightforward in the Western world. No means in. Here, it's about trying to get the job done. Indians have so much resourcefulness and the art of the possible. It's almost a delusional optimism flugghs. It have learnt family till I was 10. I am one of 38 optimism (laughs). I have learnt how to assimilate different cultures and make them my own. Initially, I felt and behaved like an outsider in the US. Over time, however, I widened my lens, I have never left my Indian culture, though. That lens of living in a duality serves you well in a global role.

You've spent most of your career as a strategist. What's the secret sauce for other aspiring. CEOs wanting to follow your career path.

Being a strategist helps me to do my job better. It's about taking a client's problem and rinding the solution strategistly. But what has also helped is being curious about the busi-ness of advertising as a whole. It's also my advice to anyone aspiring for the top job: Don't team. This is great since it's our big stay in your lane. Knowing only focus area. your job isn't enough.
